

Abstract of the Disclosure

This invention can throw a variable of target objects in the air in different directions and distances. This invention is activated by an initial shot into the target cup to throw the second target into the air.